ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Daniel Salée (Concordia University), Chair of the Programme Committee, thanks the following individuals and organizations for their special contribution to this year's conference programme:

- All the section heads, for their time, energy and cooperative spirit in organizing the many panels, workshops and roundtables in their respective sections:
  - JP Lewis (University of New Brunswick – Saint John) for Canadian politics;
  - Julian Castro-Rea (University of Alberta) for Comparative Politics;
  - Jonathan Paquin (Université Laval) for the CPSA-ISA Canada section on International Relations;
  - Stéphanie Chouinard (Royal Military College) for Law and Public Policy;
  - Meghan Joy (Concordia University) for Local and Urban Politics;
  - Ruth Dassonneville (Université de Montréal) for Political Behaviour/Sociology;
  - Andrew Biro (Acadia University) for Political Economy;
  - Dimitrios Panagos (Memorial University) for Political Theory;
  - Joseph Garcea (University of Saskatchewan) for Provincial and Territorial Politics in Canada and Beyond;
  - Jean-François Savard (École nationale d'administration publique) for CPSA-CAPPA section on Public Administration;
  - Ethel Tungohan (York University) for Race, Ethnicity, Indigenous Peoples and Politics;
  - Karen Murray (York University) for Teaching and Professional Practice;
  - Alana Cattapan (University of Saskatchewan) and Sarah Wiebe (University of Hawaii) for Women, Gender and Politics;
  - Don Desserud (University of Prince Edward Island) for the Posters sessions.
- Silvina Danesi, CPSA Executive Director, for keeping us on track and for her extraordinary patience with the Programme Chair's casualness with deadlines.
- Allan Tupper (UBC) for taking on the trying role of local coordinator and for making all the necessary logistical arrangements to ensure that we have the proper venues for our panels and various meetings.
- Steve White (Carleton) for organizing the CPSA Three Minute Thesis Competition.
- Sean Hart, CPSA's IT/Web Consultant for his constant and efficient support.
- Michelle Hopkins, CPSA Administrator for making things easy.
- Joyce Green (Regina) and Peter Russell (Toronto) for their inspired leadership in organizing the series of events on Truth and Reconciliation.
- UBC's Department of Political Science for sponsoring and hosting the departmental reception, and for their support of the Women in Political Science pre-conference workshop.
- The Congress's International Keynote Speaker Fund and the Aid to Interdisciplinary Sessions Fund.
- Abacus Data, MITACS and the University of Toronto Press, for their sponsorship of the 3MT competition.
- The Canadian Sociological Association, the Society for Socialist Studies, the Canadian Historical Association and the Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences for their partnership and collaboration on the roundtable discussion on Classroom Conversations on Indigenous and Settler Histories in Canada.

- The Canada Research Chair in Electoral Democracy for their sponsorship of the roundtable (workshop 12) Experiments in Political Science: Past, Present and Future and the panel Explaining the Vote.
- The Laurier Institute for the Study of Public Opinion and Policy for their sponsorship of the roundtable (workshop 12) Experiments in Political Science: Past, Present and Future.
- The Groupe de recherche sur le fonctionnement de la démocratie (FODEM –Laval) for their sponsorship of the workshop Democratic Accountability in Comparative Perspective: Representation in Westminster Style Systems.
- The colleagues who served as judges of the Three Minute Thesis and Posters competition.

REMERCIEMENTS

Daniel Salée (Université Concordia), président du comité du programme, remercie les personnes et les organisations suivantes pour leur contribution spéciale au programme du congrès de cette année :

- Tous les responsables de section, pour leur temps, leur énergie et leur esprit de coopération dans la mise sur pied des nombreux panels, ateliers et tables rondes faisant partie de leur section :
  - JP Lewis (University of New Brunswick – Saint John) – Politique canadienne;
  - Julian Castro-Rea (University of Alberta) – Politique comparée;
  - Jonathan Paquin (Université Laval) – ACSP-ISA Canada / Relations internationales;
  - Stéphanie Chouinard (Collège militaire royal du Canada) – Droit et analyse de politiques;
  - Meghan Joy (Université Concordia) – Politique urbaine et locale;
  - Ruth Dassonneville (Université de Montréal) – Comportement politique/sociologie;
  - Andrew Biro (Acadia University) – Économie politique;
  - Dimitrios Panagos (Memorial University) – Théorie politique;
  - Joseph Garcea (University of Saskatchewan) – Politique provinciale et territoriale au Canada et ailleurs ;

  - Don Desserud (University of Prince Edward Island) – séances de présentations visuelles.
- Silvana Danesi, directrice générale de l'ACSP, qui a su nous maintenir sur la bonne voie et faire preuve d'une patience extraordinaire devant la désinvolture du président du programme à l'égard du respect des échéances.
- Allan Tupper (UBC), qui a assumé le rôle difficile de coordonnateur local et pris toutes les dispositions logistiques nécessaires pour faire en sorte que nous disposions des lieux appropriés pour nos panels et nos diverses réunions.
- Steve White (Carleton), qui a organisé la compétition « Ma thèse en trois minutes » de l'ACSP.
- Sean Hart, consultant TI/Web, dont le soutien efficace et constant nous a été si précieux.

- Michelle Hopkins, administratrice de l'ACSP, qui nous a tant facilité la tâche.
- Joyce Green (Regina) et Peter Russell (Toronto) pour leur leadership inspiré dans l'organisation de la série d'événements sur la vérité et la réconciliation.
- Le Département de science politique de l'UBC pour la commandite et l'organisation de la réception départementale et le soutien apporté à l'atelier Women in Political Science du précongrès.
- Le Fonds de soutien des conférenciers internationaux de marque et le Fonds de soutien pour les séances interdisciplinaires du Congrès des sciences humaines.
- Abacus Data, MITACS et University of Toronto Press pour leur commandite de la compétition 3MT.
- La Société canadienne de sociologie, la Société d'études socialistes, la Société historique du Canada et la Fédération des sciences humaines pour leur partenariat et leur collaboration en lien avec la table ronde Classroom Conversations on Indigenous and Settler Histories in Canada.

SPECIAL EVENTS - DINNER / ÉVÉNEMENTS SPECIAUX – DINER

R14(b) - CPSA President's Dinner / Dîner du président de l'ACSP

Date: Jun 5 | Time: 06:00pm to 12:00am | Location: Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre (1088 Burrard Street, Vancouver)

Cocktails available at 6:00 pm; Dinner: 7 pm.

Menu

The Wall Centre kitchens are well known for the quality of their meals and for their creative use of local, seasonal products. The dinner will feature an appetizer, an entree with a vegetarian option and a dessert. Details to be provided in early Spring.

As CPSA President, I invite all conference delegates to join me for this year's President's Dinner, which will be held at the Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre on Wednesday, June 5th at 6 pm. For faculty supervisors in a position to do so, I encourage them to bring their students to the dinner as their guests. This is a great opportunity to meet other political scientists! Spouses, partners, friends and other guests of delegates are also invited.

The President's Dinner is also when we announce the winners of our prizes and honour their achievements. We hope all members of the prize juries and shortlisted colleagues will be present. The four new members of the CPSA Board of Directors –including the new Director-Student Representative!-, the new President and Vice-President will also be announced and introduced at the dinner. Join us in welcoming them to the Board!

Attendees can pay for their tickets on the Congress registration form until Friday, May 17, 2019. After this date, attendees are asked to contact the CPSA Secretariat. There will be no on-site ticket sales.

The tickets prices are:

2019 CPSA President's Dinner (Association no. 48)

Unique Rate: Students, Retired and Unwaged Attendees - $50

Unique Rate: All Other Attendees - $90

Electronic tickets will be e-mailed on Tuesday, May 21, 2019. If you have food preferences, please inform the CPSA secretariat.

I look forward to greeting you all at Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre, and to sharing an evening with you.

François Rocher, CPSA President

Cocktail à partir de 18 h; dîner de 19 h

Menu

Les cuisines du Wall Centre sont reconnues pour la qualité de leurs repas et leur créativité dans l'utilisation de produits saisonniers locaux. Le souper comprendra une entrée, un plat principal avec une option végétarienne et un dessert. De plus amples détails seront fournis au début du printemps.

À titre de président, j'invite tous les congressistes à se joindre à moi pour le dîner du président de cette année au Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre, le mercredi 5 juin à 18 h.

J'incite les professeurs qui sont dans la mesure de le faire d'inviter à ce banquet les étudiants qu'ils supervisent. Ce sera pour eux une belle occasion de rencontrer d'autres politologues. Conjoints et amis sont également les bienvenus.

C'est au cours du dîner du président que nous annoncerons les noms des lauréats de nos prix et les féliciterons pour leurs réalisations. Nous espérons que tous les membres des jurys et tous les candidats préselectionnés seront présents. Les noms des quatre nouveaux membres du conseil d'administration – incluant le nouveau directeur-représentant des étudiants! – ainsi que du nouveau président et du nouveau vice-président seront annoncés; ces personnes vous seront d'ailleurs présentées au cours du dîner. Joignez-vous à nous pour leur souhaiter la bienvenue au sein du conseil d'administration!

Les congressistes peuvent payer leur billet sur le formulaire d'inscription du Congrès des sciences humaines jusqu'au vendredi le 17 mai 2019. Après cette date, les congressistes sont priés de communiquer avec le secrétariat de l'Acsp. Aucun billet ne sera vendu sur place.

Les prix des billets sont :

Dîner du président de l'Acsp 2019 (Association no. 48)

Unique Rate: Étudiants, retraités et les congressistes sans emploi - $50

Unique Rate: Tous les autres congressistes - $90

Les congressistes recevront leur billet par courriel mardi le 21 mai 2019. Si vous avez des préférences alimentaires, veuillez en informer le secrétariat de l'Acsp.

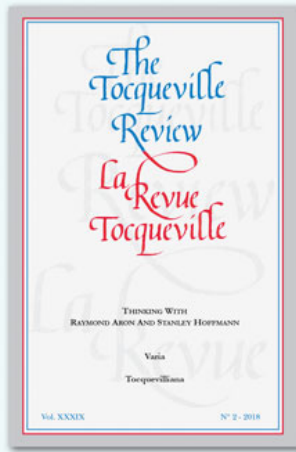

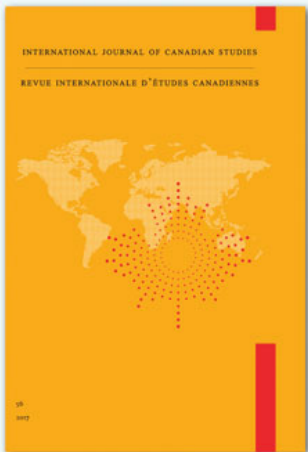

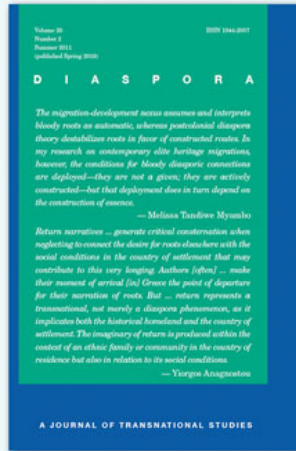

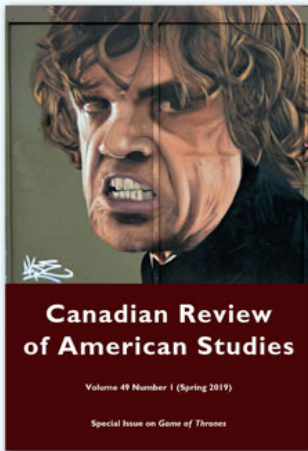

Au plaisir de vous accueillir tous au Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre et de partager la soirée avec vous.

Le président de l'Acsp, François Rocher

Participants Responsibilities

Responsibilities for all conference participants prior to and at the CPSA Annual Conference

Chairs

The chair is responsible for monitoring the entire session. The success of a session often depends upon the chair's ability to restrict the length of speakers' presentations and manage questions from the floor.

Some of the most important responsibilities of the chair are to:

- Inquire, on behalf of discussants and other paper-givers, about the status and expected completion date of late (post-May 23) papers.
- Acquaint his/herself with the content of the papers.
- Arrive early at the session and arrange with all participants the order of speaking and the time limits; normally 15 minutes for paper presentations and 10 minutes for discussants is appropriate.
- Start the session at the scheduled time with a brief presentation of the theme of the session and (if possible) the links among the papers.
- Introduce the participants (names and institutional affiliations).
- Maintain strict time limits for each speaker and discussant.
- Moderate panel or floor discussions.
- Adjourn the session in time to allow the room to clear before the next session begins.

Chairs are requested to report the name(s) of anyone who does not show up for a session (presenter or discussant).

In sessions where discussants are expected to prepare comments in advance, the chair has the option to drop from the programme any author not submitting a copy of his/her presentation to the appropriate discussant by May 23.

Please also note the following rules:

1. The CPSA conference will be held during the Congress of the Social Sciences and Humanities (Congress). Each CPSA conference participant must register for both the Congress and the CPSA conference. Anyone who does not causes a loss of revenue for the CPSA and is responsible for any increase in Congress registration fees. By not paying, participants only serve to withhold much needed support for the CPSA and penalize their paying colleagues with higher fees.
2. Each conference participant is responsible for his/her own travel arrangements.

3. Session chairs are not required to be members of CPSA but are more than welcome to join. Membership information is available at <http://www.cpsa-acsp.ca/membership.php>.

Discussants

Discussants are to prepare, in advance, appropriate critical commentaries of the significance and contribution of the papers presented in a session.

Some of the most important responsibilities of the chair are to:

- Arrive early at the session to take part in informal discussions about the order of speaking and time limits (ordinarily 10 minutes is set aside for discussants).
- Situate his/her remarks in a context broad enough to spark questions and stir the interest of an audience that typically has not read the paper.

The following are suggested guidelines for discussants' remarks:

- (1) Given that the audience may not have read the paper it is helpful to begin by stating the major thrust of the paper, identifying its stronger or more interesting features
- (2) Focus the discussion on the paper's major argument;
- (3) Indicate whether you find the argument a compelling one;
- (4) State the basic merits and limits of the paper;
- (5) Conclude by stating linkages between papers.

In consultation with the section head, you may decline to discuss any paper that is received in insufficient time for you to prepare an acceptable critique of it.

Please also note the following rules:

1. The CPSA conference will be held during the Congress of the Social Sciences and Humanities (Congress). Each CPSA conference participant must register for both the Congress and the CPSA conference. Anyone who does not causes a loss of revenue for the CPSA and is responsible for any increase in registration fees. By not paying, participants only serve to withhold much needed support for the CPSA and penalize their paying colleagues with higher fees.
2. Each conference participant is responsible for his/her own travel arrangements.
3. Discussants are not required to be members of the CPSA but are more than welcome to join. Membership information is available at <http://www.cpsa-acsp.ca/membership.php>.

Paper Presenters

If your proposal is accepted, the details of the session in which you will be participating will be available in the on-line programme. Prior to the publication of the programme, you will be given the opportunity to edit the title and abstract of your presentation through the online system.

The responsibilities of presenters are to:

- Provide copies of their papers to all of the other participants in their session by May 23 at the latest. E-mail addresses will be available in the programme. Failure to do this will likely result in the chair excluding the presentation from the session. Further, the discussant has no obligation to comment on a paper if it has not been previously seen. Such an action would be a loss to all attending the session. A .pdf format copy of the paper must be sent to each of the following:
  - a. section head;
  - b. session chair;
  - c. discussant(s);
  - d. any other session participants;

- e. the CPSA secretariat for posting to the CPSA web site.
- Ensure the paper text is SINGLE SPACED, not exceeding the CJPS manuscript submission word count of 8,000, including notes and appendices.
- Arrive early at the session to take part in informal discussions about the order of speaking and time limits (ordinarily 15 minutes are set aside for each presenter).
- Prepare comments outlining the major points of their papers. A good presentation is a must for a successful session.

The following are guidelines for preparing an oral summary of a paper (usually 15 minutes):

- (1) No paper should ever be read verbatim. Such presentations are often not only dull but also incomplete due to time constraints imposed by the chair; an author may be cut off by the chair before reaching the most significant aspects of the presentation.
- (2) Highlights of the paper should be given, covering such points as the purpose of the study, the method of analysis, the major findings, and any conclusions or recommendations. The amount of time devoted to each highlight may vary depending upon the author's evaluation of the importance of each area related to the paper. Inexperienced speakers are advised to prepare a "reading text" of approximately 5 typed pages.

Please also note the following rules:

1. For accepted presentations by single authors or multiple authors, each author must be a member in good standing of the Canadian Political Science Association (CPSA) by March 31 whether s/he is attending the conference or not. Membership exemptions will be provided by the CPSA secretariat to invited guests of the programme committee and to foreigners who can provide confirmation of a membership in their national association. The CPSA secretariat will contact all non-members about their membership status before the March 31 deadline. Should you need to become a member of the Association, please see <http://www.cpsa-acsp.ca/membership.php> for more information.
2. The CPSA conference will be held during the Congress of the Social Sciences and Humanities (Congress). Each CPSA conference participant must register for both the Congress and the CPSA conference. Anyone who does not causes a loss of revenue for the CPSA and is responsible for any increase in registration fees. By not paying, participants only serve to withhold much needed support for the CPSA and penalize their paying colleagues with higher fees.
3. Each conference participant is responsible for his/her own travel arrangements.

Poster Presenters

Posters session(s) instructions:

1. Posters should contain the following information:
  - the title and author(s);
  - the current degree program or last degree of the author;
  - the abstract (in large font);
  - an introduction to the research question, methods (as appropriate), results, and a short bibliography; and
  - any tables or figures that communicate the results of the research.

2. Posters are to be 3' x 4' in size. Beyond size, there is no specific format for either the visual display of the poster or the three-minute presentations (see sections 4, 5, and 6 below). The judges encourage creativity, clarity and communication of scholarly contributions and will be looking for these during the adjudication process.
3. A poster board surface, 4' high and 8' wide, will be provided for poster presenters. It is expected that each board will hold four (4) posters (2 on each side). Fastening pins will be available at the conference but presenters are permitted to bring their own fastening materials.
4. Poster presenters:
  - should note that visual representations of results will be more effective than text (Click HERE to see winning and runner-up posters in previous competitions);
  - should send a .pdf version of the poster to the CPSA Secretariat for uploading to the CPSA Web site one week prior to the conference start date;
  - must prepare their poster for display and be present at their poster session if they wish to be considered for the prize;
  - are expected to prepare a three-minute presentation of the poster for the jury.
5. Presentations must NOT exceed three minutes. There will be a deduction of points to any presenter who exceeds the three-minute limit AND he/she will be cut off from continuing his/her oratory past that three-minute window.
6. Presenters are permitted to pre-record these presentations and to display them for the judges. If this option is chosen, presenters must provide whatever technology they desire to facilitate the playback of the pre-recorded presentation.
7. The jury and discussants will visit each poster. The jury will use a judging rubric sheet to score each poster applying the following criteria, approved at the CPSA Board of Directors meeting of December 3, 2005: visual impact, clarity and scholarly contribution (see ANNEX II).
8. The Posters Section Head will email:
  - the name of the poster winner to the CPSA Secretariat by noon, on the day of the President's Dinner;
  - a separate message to the CPSA Secretariat and the finalists (the winner and up to two runner ups - three students, in total), by noon, on the day of the President's Dinner, inviting them to attend the dinner; the message will inform them that they are the finalists; no mention will be made regarding the identity of the winner; there shall be an embargo on any communication regarding the name of the winner until the announcement is made at the CPSA dinner;
  - a 100-word citation to be posted as the "Excerpt from jury report" on the CPSA Web site (click HERE to see previous prize citations) to the CPSA Secretariat one week after the conference at the latest.
9. A ticket is reserved for the finalists in case they have not already purchased a ticket. The finalists are asked to settle the ticket with the CPSA Secretariat at their earliest convenience.
10. The e-mail addresses listed on the on-line programme will be used to contact presenters. If poster presenters will not have access to their e-mails at the conference, they are asked to submit a telephone number to the CPSA Secretariat one week before the conference.

11. If the winner is unable to attend the dinner, the prize will be available for pick-up at the CPSA Information Table until the last day of the conference. If the winner is unable to pick-up the prize, it will be mailed after the conference by the CPSA Secretariat.
12. If desired, the winning poster may be displayed at the CPSA Information Table until the last day of the conference.

Please also note the following rules:

1. For accepted poster presentations by single authors or multiple authors, each author must be a member in good standing in CPSA by March 31 whether s/he is attending the conference or not. ### CPSA Prize for the Graduate Student Three-Minute Thesis Competition Instructions - Judging Criteria:

1. Contestants:
  - are expected to prepare a three-minute presentation for the juries -contestants exceeding the three-minute maximum will be disqualified;
  - should note that they will present their graduate research in three minutes to a jury composed of non-experts (Finals). Therefore, presentations should be accessible, engaging and adhere to rules of plain language (click HERE to see winning and runner-up presentations in previous competitions);
  - are allowed to use one static PowerPoint slide to augment their verbal presentations (no slide transitions, animations or 'movement' of any description) -no additional electronic media (e.g., sound or video files) are permitted or props are permitted;
  - must be available to present in the preliminary heats (usually "Heat 1" and "Heat 2," to be held during the first two days of the conference) as well as the final competition (the "Finals," to be held on the last day of the conference);
  - must email to the CPSA Secretariat one week prior to the conference start date the following information:
    - a message indicating if they authorize the CPSA to video-tape their presentations during the "Finals," and to post them on the CPSA Web site after the conference

- a written summary (maximum of 300 words) of their presentations in both French and English to circulate to jury members
- 2. The maximum number of preliminary heats will be four, with the number of contestants in each heat and the number of preliminary juries determined by the number of submissions at the discretion of the chair and section head. Usually, four contestants participate in the "Finals." The top scores across the preliminary heats will advance to the "Finals". There is the possibility that the number of contestants who advance from each preliminary heat will not be equal. The contestants who received the top scores per preliminary heats will be informed via email or Twitter after all preliminary heats are complete.
- 3. The Preliminary Jury (or juries) for the preliminary heats, and the Prize Jury for the Finals, will use a judging criteria document that follows the principles of the official 3MT™ of the University of Queensland to assess the presentations. The document will be provided to contestants before the competition.
- 4. The judging criteria document:
  - assesses two areas: a) Comprehension and Content, and b) Engagement and Communication Style;
  - is composed of twelve questions graded on a scale of 0 (strongly disagree) to 5 (strongly agree).
- 5. The Preliminary Jury (or juries) will have a brief period after presentations are delivered to complete their judging criteria document.
- 6. One jury member is responsible for the initial tabulation of the scores, and a second jury member confirms the tabulation is correct.
- 7. The contestants of the preliminary heats with the highest scores will participate in the Finals. In the unlikely event of a tie, the chair will cast the deciding vote.
- 8. The Prize Jury for the Finals:
  - will not deliberate on the presentations;
  - will have a brief period after presentations are delivered to complete their judging criteria document.
- 9. One jury member is responsible for the initial tabulation of the scores, and a second jury member confirms the tabulation is correct.
- 10. The contestant(s) with the highest score will win the competition.
- 11. In the unlikely event of a tie, the prize will be divided equally.
- 12. The chair must email:
  - the name of the winner and runners-up to the CPSA Secretariat as soon as the competition is over;
  - a 100-word citation to be posted as the "Excerpt from jury report" on the CPSA Web site (click HERE to see previous prize citations) one week after the conference at the latest.

Please also note the following rules:

1. For accepted presentations by single authors or multiple authors, each author must be a member in good standing in CPSA by March 31 whether s/he is attending the conference or not. national. The CPSA secretariat will contact all non-members about their membership status before the March 31 deadline. Should you need to become a member of the Association, please see <http://www.cpsa-acsp.ca/membership.php> for more information.

2. The CPSA conference will be held during the Congress of the Social Sciences and Humanities (Congress). Each CPSA conference participant must register for both the Congress and the CPSA conference. Anyone who does not causes a loss of revenue for the CPSA and is responsible for any increase in registration fees. By not paying, participants only serve to withhold much needed support for the CPSA and penalize their paying colleagues with higher fees.
3. Each conference participant is responsible for his/her own travel arrangements.

Roundtable Participants

If your proposal is accepted, the details of the conference session in which you will be participating will be available in the on-line Programme. Prior to the publication of the programme, you will be given the opportunity to edit the title and abstract of your presentation through the online system.

Please note the following rules:

Sylvia Bashevkin, Women as Foreign Policy Leaders: National Security and Gender Politics in Superpower America, Oxford 2018

Sylvia Bashevkin's Women as Foreign Policy Leaders breaks new ground in IR scholarship by challenging deep-seated assumptions about female leadership and gender relations in high-level diplomacy. Bashevkin draws upon insights from feminist diplomatic history and case studies of four top U.S. female national security officials across different presidential administrations to argue that women in positions of diplomatic power transcend pacifist gender stereotypes. All four women - Jeane Kirkpatrick, Madeleine Albright, Condoleezza Rice, and Hillary Rodham Clinton - had long track records of forceful, decisive leadership before rising to top positions, and once in power acted to assertively and effectively shape U.S. national security policy despite facing gender-based critiques and discrimination. Theoretically rich and engagingly written, Women as Foreign Policy Leaders exemplifies the central importance of feminist IR scholarship to the discipline of political science.

Sylvia Bashevkin, Women as Foreign Policy Leaders: National Security and Gender Politics in Superpower America, Oxford 2018

Women as Foreign Policy Leaders, de Sylvia Bashevkin, innove dans l'étude des relations internationales en remettant en question des hypothèses profondément ancrées sur le leadership féminin et les relations de genre dans la diplomatie de haut niveau. Bashevkin s'appuie sur l'histoire de la diplomatie féministe et sur des études de cas de quatre hauts responsables de la sécurité nationale américaine dans différentes administrations présidentielles pour affirmer que les femmes occupant des postes de pouvoir diplomatique transcendent les stéréotypes pacifistes de genre. Les quatre femmes - Jeane Kirkpatrick, Madeleine Albright, Condoleezza Rice et Hillary Rodham Clinton - avaient toutes les quatre une longue expérience de leadership énergique et décisif avant de gravir les échelons et, une fois au pouvoir, d'une action apte à façonner avec assurance et efficacité la politique de sécurité nationale américaine malgré les critiques et la discrimination sexistes. Théoriquement riche et bien écrit, Women as Foreign Policy Leaders illustre l'importance centrale de la recherche féministe en RI dans la discipline des sciences politiques.

Jean-Christophe Boucher and Kim Nossal, The Politics of War: Canada's Afghanistan Mission, 2001-14, UBC 2017

Jean-Christophe Boucher and Kim Nossal's The Politics of War confronts a major puzzle of Canada's long involvement in Afghanistan: why did politicians never acknowledge that Canada was at war? Instead, political elites framed Afghanistan as a "mission" and used it to attempt to score political points against each other. This created a disconnect between the home front and the theatre of war, making it impossible for politicians to credibly explain to the public why Canadians were dying in Afghanistan. In the end, this led both the Conservative government and the Liberal opposition to stop talking about the war almost entirely. The book is a powerful indictment of the Canadian political elite and its abdication of responsibility for those they put in harm's way.

Jean-Christophe Boucher and Kim Nossal, The Politics of War: Canada's Afghanistan Mission, 2001-14, UBC 2017

The Politics of War, de Jean-Christophe Boucher et Kim Nossal, confronte une énigme majeure de l'engagement de longue date du Canada en Afghanistan : pourquoi les politiciens n'ont-ils jamais reconnu que le Canada était en guerre ? Au lieu de cela, les élites politiques ont présenté l'Afghanistan comme une « mission » et l'ont utilisé pour tenter de marquer des points politiques les uns contre les autres. Cela a créé un fossé entre le front intérieur et le théâtre de guerre, ce qui a empêché les politiciens d'expliquer de façon crédible au public pourquoi des Canadiens mouraient en Afghanistan. En fin de compte, cela a amené le gouvernement conservateur et l'opposition libérale à cesser de parler presque entièrement de la guerre. Le livre est un puissant réquisitoire contre l'élite politique canadienne et son abdication de sa responsabilité à l'égard de ceux qu'elle met en danger.

Richard W. Carney, Authoritarian Capitalism: Sovereign Wealth Funds and State-Owned Enterprises in East Asia and Beyond, Cambridge 2018

Richard W. Carney's Authoritarian Capitalism proposes a sophisticated theory to deal with a timely subject. Despite the rise of illiberal democracies like China, Malaysia, and Singapore, authoritarian capitalism is relatively neglected in the study of international political economy, where specialists remain too focused on the Western world and on the liberal-democratic model of capitalism. The growing importance of sovereign wealth funds and state-owned enterprises is clear: their assets have increased from one trillion in 2000 to more than seven trillion in 2015. Carney demonstrates conclusively that authoritarian leaders have the capacity to use these economic tools strategically to intervene in the corporate sectors of other countries, which works to consolidate their power and influence both at home and abroad.

Richard W. Carney, Authoritarian Capitalism: Sovereign Wealth Funds and State-Owned Enterprises in East Asia and Beyond, Cambridge 2018

Authoritarian Capitalism, de Richard W. Carney, propose une théorie sophistiquée pour traiter d'un sujet d'actualité. Malgré la montée de démocraties peu libérales comme la Chine, la Malaisie et Singapour, le capitalisme autoritaire est relativement négligé dans l'étude de l'économie politique internationale, où les spécialistes restent trop focalisés sur le monde occidental et sur le modèle libéral-démocratique du capitalisme. L'importance croissante des fonds souverains et des entreprises d'État est évidente : leurs actifs sont passés de 1 000 milliards en 2000 à plus de 7 000 milliards en 2015. Carney démontre de façon concluante que les dirigeants autoritaires ont la capacité d'utiliser ces outils économiques de façon stratégique pour intervenir dans les secteurs corporatifs d'autres pays, ce qui leur permet de consolider leur pouvoir et leur influence au pays et à l'étranger.

Loleen Berdahl (University of Saskatchewan)

Dr. Loleen Berdahl is a reflective and dedicated teacher who has had a profound impact on her students at the University of Saskatchewan. Through her research and publication on teaching — and on PhD career development and mentoring in particular — that impact has become nationwide. Her commitment to teaching excellence is further exhibited by her history of service to the discipline in areas related to teaching and learning.

Loleen Berdahl (University of Saskatchewan)

La Pr Loleen Berdahl est une enseignante réfléchie et dévouée qui a eu un impact profond sur ses étudiants à l'Université de la Saskatchewan. Grâce à ses recherches et à ses publications sur l'enseignement - et sur le développement de carrière et le mentorat au niveau du doctorat en particulier - cet impact est devenu national. Son engagement à l'égard de l'excellence en enseignement se reflète également dans son expérience au service de la discipline dans les domaines liés à l'enseignement et à l'apprentissage.

Heidi Kiiwetinepinesiik Stark (University of Victoria)

Dr Heidi Kiiwetinepinesiik Stark is a passionate teacher and mentor who embraces a collaborative and interactive approach to teaching and learning. She clearly inspires her students, who speak of her committed approach to mentorship as a key component of her teaching philosophy. Seeking to open up teaching and learning opportunities in Indigenous politics, Dr Stark goes well beyond the classroom in adopting innovative land-based education and teaching practices. Her approach to teaching has inspired not only her students but also the discipline itself.

Heidi Kiiwetinepinesiik Stark (University of Victoria)

La Pr Heidi Kiiwetinepinesiik Stark est une enseignante et une mentor passionnée qui privilégie une démarche collaborative et interactive de l'enseignement et de l'apprentissage. Ses étudiants, pour qui elle est une source d'inspiration, parlent de son approche engagée du mentorat comme d'un élément clé de sa philosophie d'enseignement. Cherchant à ouvrir des possibilités d'enseignement et d'apprentissage en politique autochtone, Mme Stark déborde les confins de la salle de classe en adoptant des pratiques novatrices d'enseignement et d'éducation fondées sur les racines retrouvées. Son approche de l'enseignement a inspiré non seulement ses élèves, mais aussi la discipline elle-même.

Anne-Laure Mahé (Université de Montréal), “Négociier la domination autoritaire au Soudan”

This thought-provoking examination of participatory development considers how local elites exploit their populations to solidify their authority. We learn how authorities exert power while projecting engagement which, in turn, deflects central government responsibility for economic problems and pacifies local unrest. The thesis employs an impressive ethnographic approach to field work in Khartoum and El Obeid, including 53 interviews with members of the North Kordofan Renaissance, officials and academics; observation; photography; and analysis of official online videos. The result is a deep case study and original contribution that adds to our understanding of coopted power, social control, and the resilience of authoritarianism.

Anne-Laure Mahé (Université de Montréal), « Négociier la domination autoritaire au Soudan »

Cet examen stimulant du développement participatif examine comment les élites locales exploitent leurs populations pour consolider leur autorité. Nous apprenons comment les autorités exercent le pouvoir tout en projetant l'engagement qui, à son tour, détourne la responsabilité du gouvernement central des problèmes économiques et pacifie les troubles locaux. La thèse utilise une approche ethnographique impressionnante du travail sur le terrain à Khartoum et à El Obeid, comprenant 53 entretiens avec des membres de la renaissance du Nord-Kordofan, des fonctionnaires et des universitaires ; elle repose également sur l'observation, la photographie et l'analyse des vidéos officielles en ligne. Il en résulte une étude de cas approfondie et une contribution originale qui ajoute à notre compréhension du pouvoir coopté, du contrôle social et de la résilience de l'autoritarisme.

Alexandre Paquin-Pelletier (University of Toronto), “Radical Leaders: Status, Competition, and Violent Islamic Mobilization in Indonesia”

This cogent explanation of why some religious leaders use radicalization and vigilante mobilization is based on a study of Islamic clerics in East and West Java. It argues that radicalization and vigilante mobilization are competitive strategies by religious entrepreneurs to acquire status. The thesis draws on 126 interviews with local academics, NGO leaders, religious clerics, leaders of radical groups and local historians; an original dataset of Islamic boarding schools and their clerics; and data from government almanacs. It is a convincing argument that weak institutions provide opportunities and incentives for religious actors to radicalize and mobilize their followers for violence.

Alexandre Paquin-Pelletier (University of Toronto), “Radical Leaders: Status, Competition, and Violent Islamic Mobilization in Indonesia”

Cette explication convaincante des raisons pour lesquelles certains chefs religieux recourent à la radicalisation et à la mobilisation des groupes d'autodéfense s'appuie sur une étude des dignitaires religieux islamiques à Java-Est et Java-Ouest. Elle fait valoir que la radicalisation et le vigilantisme sont des stratégies concurrentielles des entrepreneurs religieux pour acquérir un statut. La thèse s'appuie sur 126 entrevues menées auprès des universitaires locaux, des responsables d'ONG, des religieux, des chefs de groupes radicaux et des historiens locaux, un ensemble original de données sur les internats islamiques et leurs oulémas, ainsi que sur des almanachs gouvernementaux. C'est un argument convaincant que la faiblesse des institutions offre aux acteurs religieux des opportunités et des incitatifs pour radicaliser et mobiliser leurs fidèles en faveur de la violence.

Sule Yaylaci (University of British Columbia), “Trust in Civil Wars: The Implications of Conflict Character and Threat on Political and Social Trust”

This highly original study of the effects of civil wars on victims and bystanders considers the implications for political and social trust. The Kurdish insurgency in Turkey and Maoist insurgency in Peru are examined to show that in ethnic conflicts, violence increases trust, whereas in ideological conflicts, violence decreases trust. An impressive array of evidence includes archival research, 82 expert interviews, 158 in-depth interviews, and 34 focus groups, supplemented with cross-national, multilevel analysis of survey data. The result is an exceptional example of mixed-methods research design and contribution to our understanding of the legacies of civil conflict on citizen attitudes.

Sule Yaylaci (University of British Columbia), “Trust in Civil Wars: The Implications of Conflict Character and Threat on Political and Social Trust”

Cette étude très originale qui traite des effets des guerres civiles sur les victimes et les témoins examine les implications pour la confiance politique et sociale. Les insurrections kurde en Turquie et maoïste au Pérou sont analysées pour montrer que dans les conflits ethniques, la violence accroît la confiance, alors que dans les conflits idéologiques, la violence diminue la confiance. Un éventail impressionnant de données probantes comprend des recherches archivistiques, 82 entrevues avec des experts, 158 entrevues en profondeur et 34 interactions avec des groupes de discussion, auxquelles s'ajoute une analyse transnationale multiniveaux des données d'enquête. Le résultat est un exemple exceptionnel de conception de recherche à méthodes mixtes et de contribution à notre compréhension du legs des conflits civils sur les attitudes des citoyens.

Matt Wilder (2018). "Debating Basic Income: Distributive Justice and the Normative-Technical Nexus", CJPS/RCSP, Vol. 51, No. 2, June, pp. 279-303

This article impresses by its rigour, clarity and the author's ability to successfully combine the principles of Rawlsian justice with the most advanced logistic regression methods to analyze the guaranteed annual income policy. Considering that moral concerns are inseparable from the technical debate, Matt Wilder wants to know if the sense of duty and standards of reciprocity within society must be strengthened to prevent free-riding and make the guaranteed annual income a success. The results of its analysis of the World Values Survey data indicate that the introduction of stricter social standards is not necessary for the success of the policy. Wilder thus removes an important normative and technical obstacle to the introduction of a guaranteed basic income, and shows that this form of redistribution constitutes a credible alternative to current workfare policies. An innovative article that enriches the work of philosophy and public policy.

Matt Wilder (2018). « Debating Basic Income: Distributive Justice and the Normative-Technical Nexus », CJPS/RCSP, Vol 51, No 2, Juin, pp. 279-303

Cet article impressionne par sa rigueur, sa clarté et la capacité de son auteur à combiner avec brio les principes de la justice rawlsienne aux méthodes de régression logistique les plus avancées pour analyser la politique de revenu annuel garanti. Considérant que les préoccupations morales sont inséparables du débat technique, Matt Wilder veut savoir si le sens du devoir et les normes de réciprocité au sein de la société doivent être renforcés pour empêcher le resquillage et faire du revenu annuel garanti un succès. Les résultats de son analyse des données du World Values Survey indiquent que l'introduction de normes sociales plus strictes n'est pas nécessaire à la réussite de la politique. Wilder fait ainsi sauter un important obstacle normatif et technique à l'instauration d'un revenu de base garanti, et montre que cette forme de redistribution constitue une alternative crédible aux politiques actuelles du « workfare ». Un article novateur qui enrichit les travaux de philosophie et de politique publique.

Melanee Thomas (2018). "In Crisis or Decline? Selecting Women to Lead Provincial Parties in Government", CJPS/RCSP, Vol. 51, No 2, pp. 379-403

Melanee Thomas' timely and original article examines whether gendered patterns of leader selection are the result of women's increased likelihood of being chosen to lead parties in government when those parties are in crisis or decline. Examining the eight women who were selected to serve as provincial premiers in Canada between 1991 and 2015, she offers a careful and considered operationalization of the party crisis and party decline concepts, and then employing several inventive data sources, reveals that the concepts only shed light on four of the eight cases. This excellent article contributes to the comparative literature on gender and leadership, models the best of empirical approaches to test theories, and will no doubt spark further research on the problematic metaphor of the "glass cliff."

Melanee Thomas (2018). « In Crisis or Decline? Selecting Women to Lead Provincial Parties in Government », CJPS/RCSP, Vol. 51, No. 2, pp. 379-403

L'article opportun et original de Melanee Thomas examine si les tendances sexospécifiques dans la sélection des dirigeants sont le résultat de la probabilité accrue des femmes d'être choisies pour diriger des partis au gouvernement lorsque ces formations politiques sont en crise ou en déclin. En examinant les huit femmes qui ont été choisies comme premières ministres provinciales au Canada entre 1991 et 2015, elle propose une opérationnalisation prudente et réfléchie de la crise des partis et des concepts de leur déclin, puis en utilisant plusieurs sources de données inventives, elle révèle que ces concepts ne font la lumière que sur quatre des huit cas. Cet excellent article contribue à la littérature comparative sur le genre et le leadership, modélise les meilleures approches empiriques pour tester les théories, et suscitera sans doute d'autres recherches sur la métaphore problématique de la « falaise de verre ».

Cheryl N. Collier and Tracey Raney (2018). "Canada's Member-to-Member Code of Conduct on Sexual Harassment in the House of Commons: Progress or Regress?", CJPS/RCSP, Vol. 51, No. 4, pp. 795-815

The article by Cheryl N. Collier and Tracey Raney provides a very up-to-date analysis of gender relations in the House of Commons. It deals specifically with violence against women in politics. This theoretically innovative article draws on feminist institutionalism to deconstruct the process of applying the Code of Conduct for Members of the House of Commons: Sexual Harassment Between Members. The analysis shows that the institutional norms preceding the application of the Code of Conduct are still present when cases of sexual harassment occur. In other words, the authors show that the new institutional framework imposed by the Code of Conduct has not succeeded in undoing the gender relations instituted within the Canadian Parliament. Not only is the theme of this article very topical, but it is also forward-looking because it provides a new theoretical perspective on the functioning of the Canadian Parliament.

L'article de Cheryl N. Collier et Tracey Raney propose une analyse très actuelle des rapports de genre au sein de la Chambre des communes. Il traite plus particulièrement de la violence envers les femmes en politique. Très novateur sur le plan théorique, l'article s'inspire de l'institutionnalisme féministe pour déconstruire le processus d'application du Code de conduite pour les députés de la Chambre des communes en matière d'agression sexuelle. L'analyse montre que les normes institutionnelles précédant l'application du Code de conduite sont toujours présentes lorsque surviennent des cas d'agression sexuelle. Autrement dit, les auteurs montrent que le nouveau cadre institutionnel imposé par le Code de conduite n'a pas permis de défaire les rapports genres institués au sein du Parlement canadien. Non seulement la thématique de cet article est très actuelle, mais il s'avère fécond sur le plan théorique puisqu'il apporte un regard théorique neuf sur le fonctionnement du parlement canadien.

Megan Gaucher, A Family Matter: Citizenship, Conjugal Relationships, and Canadian Immigration Policy, UBC Press 2018

This text is a well written and timely assessment of the role that family relationships have played to immigrants' access to citizenship in Canada. The author demonstrates how the state is using the provision of citizenship as a means to reproduce and reinforce traditional racialized, gendered, and sexualized assumptions about what constitutes a family. The text makes a rich contribution both theoretically and empirically, combining discourse analysis and more traditional qualitative and quantitative research methodologies to paint a contemporary portrait of the "connections between family, citizenship, and security."

Megan Gaucher, A Family Matter: Citizenship, Conjugal Relationships, and Canadian Immigration Policy, UBC Press 2018

Ce texte est une évaluation bien rédigée et opportune du rôle que les relations familiales ont joué dans l'accès des immigrants à la citoyenneté au Canada. L'auteure montre comment l'État se sert de la citoyenneté comme moyen de reproduire et de renforcer les préjugés racialisés, sexistes et sexualisés traditionnels sur ce qui constitue une famille. Le texte apporte une riche contribution à la fois théorique et empirique, combinant l'analyse du discours et des méthodologies de recherche qualitative et quantitative plus traditionnelles pour dresser un portrait contemporain des « liens entre famille, citoyenneté et sécurité ».

Samuel LaSelva, Canada and the Ethics of Constitutionalism: Identity, Destiny, and Constitutional Faith, MQUP 2018

This is a beautifully written exploration of the Canadian experiment in constitutionalism. It devotes considerable attention to the place of Indigenous ideas in Canadian constitutionalism and to the meaning and pre-requisites of Aboriginal self-government in both Canada and the United States. The author emphasizes the differences between the Canadian constitution and the British and American models that it borrowed from, specifically that the Canadian model focuses on the rights of others rather than the rights of the sovereign or the individual. This makes for a uniquely Canadian constitutional ethic, which has affected our approach to the Charter, the Quebec secession debate, Indigenous self-government, and the conception of Canada as a multicultural and multinational mosaic.

Samuel LaSelva, Canada and the Ethics of Constitutionalism: Identity, Destiny, and Constitutional Faith, MQUP 2018

Il s'agit d'une exploration magnifiquement écrite de l'expérience canadienne dans la sphère du constitutionnalisme. Il accorde une attention considérable à la place des idées autochtones dans le constitutionnalisme canadien et à la signification et aux conditions préalables de l'autonomie gouvernementale autochtone au Canada et aux États-Unis. L'auteur souligne les différences entre la Constitution canadienne et les modèles britannique et américain dont elle s'inspire, en particulier le fait que le modèle canadien met l'accent sur les droits des autres plutôt que sur les droits du souverain ou de l'individu. Cela donne lieu à une éthique constitutionnelle canadienne unique, qui a influencé notre approche de la Charte, le débat sur la sécession du Québec, l'autonomie gouvernementale autochtone et la conception du Canada comme une mosaïque multiculturelle et multinationale.

Ian Urquhart, Costly Fix, UTP 2018

This text provides an engaging, well researched, and concerning presentation of the history of policy making around the Alberta tar sands. Grounding his arguments in the theoretical literature, the author demonstrates how the myth that economic demand has driven the development and growth of the tar sands has concealed consistent state actions including an advantageous royalty, tax and regulatory regime that are the real reasons for its boom. The book provides a nuanced account of the tension between resistance and compromise that shapes the response of First Nations communities to tar sands exploitation, and reveals the ways in which financial ties to the major tar sands companies have sometimes blunted the effectiveness of key environmental groups.

Ian Urquhart, Costly Fix, UTP 2018

Ce texte offre une présentation intéressante, bien documentée et avisée de l'histoire de l'élaboration des politiques sur les sables bitumineux de l'Alberta. Fondant ses arguments sur la littérature théorique, l'auteur démontre comment le mythe selon lequel la demande économique est à l'origine du développement et de la croissance des sables bitumineux a caché des mesures étatiques cohérentes, y compris un régime de redevances, de taxes et de réglementation avantageux qui sont les véritables raisons de leur essor. Le livre fournit un compte rendu nuancé de la tension entre la résistance et le compromis qui façonne la réaction des collectivités des Premières nations à l'exploitation des sables bitumineux et révèle comment les liens financiers avec les grandes sociétés d'exploitation des sables bitumineux ont parfois affaibli l'efficacité des principaux groupes environnementaux.

Brenda O'Neill and David Stewart, "A Glass Cliff? Gender and Party Leader Tenures and Exits"

This is an excellent example of scholarship in the field of gender and Canadian politics that provides original research. It answers the questions many wonder about: how do women leaders differ from men in terms of service to their parties? How and why do they leave? Their findings are perhaps not surprising but certainly hard to witness: the shorter tenure is the result of pressure from party as a result of harsher set of standards for women.

Brenda O'Neill and David Stewart, « A Glass Cliff? Gender and Party Leader Tenures and Exits »

Il s'agit d'un excellent exemple d'érudition qui produit une recherche originale dans le domaine du genre et de la politique canadienne. L'étude répond aux questions que beaucoup se posent : en quoi les femmes dirigeantes diffèrent-elles des hommes en termes de services rendus à leur parti ? Comment et pourquoi partent-elles ? Le constat n'est peut-être pas surprenant, mais il est certainement difficile d'en être témoin : la brièveté du mandat est le résultat de pressions exercées par le parti en raison de normes plus strictes pour les femmes.

Erica Rayment, "Women in the House: The Substantive Representation of Women in the Canadian House of Commons Since 1968"

Another remarkably robust study that is longitudinal in analysis from 1968 to 2015, which determines that female MPs are more likely to represent women in parliamentary debate than men, no matter their political affiliation. Methodologically impressive and comprehensive, this is another great example of scholarship in action.

Erica Rayment, « Women in the House: The Substantive Representation of Women in the Canadian House of Commons Since 1968 »

Une autre étude remarquablement solide, dont l'analyse est longitudinale de 1968 à 2015, détermine que les députées élues sont plus susceptibles que les hommes de représenter les femmes dans les débats parlementaires, quelle que soit leur affiliation politique. Impressionnant et complet sur le plan méthodologique, il s'agit d'un autre excellent exemple d'érudition en action.

Angelia Wagner, "Avoiding the Spotlight Public Scrutiny Concerns and Political Candidacy in Canada"

"Avoiding the Spotlight Public Scrutiny Concerns and Political Candidacy in Canada" looks at why members of the LGBTTTQ* community may not run for office using dual sampling. The conclusion is perhaps not surprising – the public scrutiny concerns is at the bottom of this. The topic is under-examined and this is a new frontier for qualitative research.

Angelia Wagner, « Avoiding the Spotlight Public Scrutiny Concerns and Political Candidacy in Canada »

Cette étude examine les raisons pour lesquelles les membres de la communauté LGBTTB ne peuvent pas se présenter aux élections en utilisant le double échantillonnage. La conclusion n'est peut-être pas surprenante – les inquiétudes relatives à l'examen du public sont au cœur du débat. Le thème n'a pas été suffisamment-examiné et délimite une nouvelle frontière pour la recherche qualitative.

L00(a) - Women In Political Science Leadership Program - Registration/Breakfast

Date: Jun 3 | Time: 09:30am to 10:00am | Location: ESB 2012/1012

This event will take place in either room ESB2012 or ESB 1012 (TBD by the organizers).
Cet événement aura lieu dans la salle ESB2012 ou salle ESB 1012 (à déterminer par les organisatrices).

Although 40.9% of all Canadian Political Science Association (CPSA) members identify as women (Abu-Laban, Sawyer and St. Laurent, 2017: 7), women are still underrepresented in key leadership roles. For example, CPSA has only had 11 women presidents since its establishment in 1912 (Ibid: 9). While important strides have been made to address gender and diversity concerns -- most notably through the establishment of the Women and Politics Section in 2000, concerns about gender equity in the profession abound. Every year, discussion at the Women, Gender and Politics workshops reveal that many female political scientists experience incidents of gender discrimination, which run the gamut from being underpaid to facing gender discrimination in the criteria used for tenure and promotion (e.g., student teaching evaluations, citation indices), to experiencing sexual harassment and assault. The situation is dire for black and Indigenous women of colour. Although CPSA does not collect data disaggregated by race, by indigeneity, and by gender, the experiences of racialized and Indigenous women in the profession have been documented by scholars such as Malinda Smith, who, in her groundbreaking co-written book, "The Equity Myth," highlights how diversity initiatives have done little to improve the everyday working conditions of Indigenous and racialized faculty members, and in particular, racialized and Indigenous women (Kobayashi, et al.: 2017). The purpose of this one-day pre-conference leadership program, to be held on June 3, 2019, the day before the 2019 CPSA Annual Conference starts, is to provide women in political science a dedicated space to build community with each other and to identify ways to improve the situations of women and BIWOC in the academy. By having individual workshops related to professional development (e.g., addressing issues related to career options, research, teaching, and navigating the 'academy'), and to work-life balance (e.g., parenting while 'professing,' working as activist-scholars), this leadership program will provide both junior, mid-career, and senior scholars the opportunity to learn from each other. Junior scholars will also have the opportunity to be paired with senior scholar 'mentors' who share similar research interests and who can help 'demystify' the ins and outs of political science. Please note: this is a preconference workshop, which will take place the

R01(a) - Featured Talk - Climate Change Mitigation: Carbon Pricing in the Canadian Federation - Joint UBC/ CPSA/ ESAC Session

Date: Jun 4 | Time: 08:30am to 10:00am | Location: The NEST 2601

Abstract: Climate change mitigation has proven difficult and contentious in the Canadian federation. Although in early 2018 the Trudeau government appeared to have gained a commitment by all but one province to put a price on carbon pollution, by year's end the landscape had shifted dramatically, as opposition and even court challenges emerged from several provinces. The federal government will now impose a carbon tax over provincial government objections in Ontario, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, and Manitoba in April 2019, while the prospect of Alberta's non-compliance with federal conditions looms in 2020. In this Congress 'Featured Talk', hear from the experts on why different provinces have adopted distinctive approaches to carbon pricing, and how and why provincial governments have responded to the threat of a federal carbon tax.

In this panel we explore how deep democratic commitments are within the populations of Western societies. We ask a variety of questions related to how broad, deep or fundamental citizens commitment to democracy really is. For example, are democratic political attitudes linked to biological mechanisms and thus very deep-seated? Do citizens make distinctions between people of different ethnic or racial backgrounds when they think about granting political rights? When and how do citizens feel threatened so that they react by letting democratic freedoms slip? And how committed is the American public to the principles of democracy?

R03 - Keynote: UBCIC Grand Chief Stewart Phillip - Asserting Indigenous Title and Rights in 2019

Date: Jun 4 | Time: 10:30am to 12:00pm | Location: CIRS 1250

Chair/Président/Présidente : Joyce Green (University of Regina)

Grand Chief Stewart Phillip is a long-time Chief of the Penticton Indian Band, Chair of the Okanagan Nation Alliance, and President of the Union of BC Indian Chiefs. The Union of BC Indian Chiefs strengthens Indigenous Nations to assert and implement their Aboriginal Title, Rights, Treaty Rights and Right of Self-Determination as Peoples.

Grand Chief Stewart Phillip will comment on:

- The defence of, and advocacy for, Indigenous Title and Rights
- Climate change and its effects on Indigenous peoples and all peoples
- Natural resource extraction and impacts on Title and Rights
- Impacts of colonialism and resulting resurgence of Indigenous activism
- Reflection on over 40 years in politics as an Indigenous leader

Biography

In October 2008, Grand Chief Stewart Phillip concluded his fourth consecutive four year term as Chief of the Penticton Indian Band (PIB), and served the Band as Chief for a total of 14 years. In addition, he served as an elected Band Councilor for a 10-year period. Aside from serving as a member of the PIB Council for a total of 24 years, Grand Chief Phillip continues to serve as the Chair of the Okanagan Nation Alliance. In October 2006, the Okanagan Nation, led by the Elders of the Penticton Indian Band, acknowledged his lifetime commitment to the defense of Indigenous Peoples' Title and Rights by bestowing on him and his family the rare honour of the title of Grand Chief. Over the last 38 years, Grand Chief Stewart Phillip has worked within the Penticton Indian Band Administration holding a variety of positions such as, Band Administrator, Director of Land Management, Education Counselor, Economic Development Officer and Band Planner. Aside from serving as a member of the PIB council for a total of 24 years, he is proud to be in his seventh three-year term as the President of the Union of BC Indian Chiefs. He has taken an active role in the defense of Aboriginal Title and Rights by readily offering support to Native communities in need. He has taken a personal approach seeing first-hand the impact of fish farms in the Broughton Archipelago, lobbying on Parliament Hill to defeat the First Nations Governance Act, standing with Elders of Treaty 8 against oil and gas development in the Peace River, burning referendum ballots with fellow chiefs in protest and has stood on the steps of the Legislature with 3000 other people united under the Title and Rights Alliance banner. Grand Chief Phillip has been married for 33 years to his wife Joan. They have four grown sons, two daughters, six granddaughters and nine grandsons. He is currently enjoying his 30th year of sobriety. In this regard, he is a firm believer in leading by example. "I hereby commit to work collectively with the Chiefs of the UBCIC, the First Nations Summit and the BC Assembly of First Nations. We must work together to ensure the governments of Canada and British Columbia endorse and implement the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples for our Nations and communities. We must work together to compel government to update the Comprehensive Claims Policy to reflect the many hard-fought court victories such as the Delgamuuk'w, Haida and William cases” -- Grand Chief Stewart Phillip.

Date: Jun 4 | Time: 01:30pm to 03:00pm | Location: CIRS 1250

Chair/Président/Présidente : Joyce Green (University of Regina)

Participants will take up the tensions between the imperative of reconciliation between the settler state and Indigenous peoples, and the facts of Canada's occupation of Indigenous territories, appropriation of Indigenous lands, resources, sovereignty and self-determination. The conversation will shed light on whether reconciliation is possible in the conditions of continuing oppression and appropriation of territory.

Join us under the stars for a BBQ Buffet and the annual networking event.
Register for the BBQ when you register for Congress. Register for the networking event HERE.

Drinks at 7:15 pm | BBQ at 7:30 pm | Networking at 8:00 pm

Dear CPSA Women's Caucus reception attendees,

On behalf of the entire steering committee, thank you again for registering for the Women's Caucus Dinner.

This year we have planned a Courtyard BBQ Social at St John's College at UBC, 2111 Lower Mall, on Tuesday, June 4.

Join us for drinks starting at 7:15pm, followed by a BBQ buffet at 7:30pm. Dinner will include assorted lemonade, iced tea, hamburgers, hotdogs, and salads (vegan and vegetarian options provided). There will be a cash bar serving beer and wine; drinks will cost $5 each.

We would like to highlight a few things before the BBQ Social.

- First, we have some fun games in mind for our Networking Event being held from 8-9pm during the social. Established, mid-career, and emerging scholars (including graduate students and those in alternative-academic careers) will be matched up based on interests to meet someone new and broaden your networks. The networking event is open to people of all genders. Even if you have participated in the networking event before please register HERE by Friday, May 24th.
- Second, if you have any food preferences or limitations, or if you have any accessibility needs we can try to meet, then please contact Emily (Emily.Wills@uottawa.ca) as soon as possible and we can do our best to meet your needs.

Looking forward to seeing you in Vancouver.

Emily, Alana, and Jessica

Rejoignez-nous sous les étoiles pour un buffet BBQ et notre séance de réseautage annuelle. Inscrivez-vous au BBQ sur le site d'inscription du Congrès. Inscrivez-vous à la séance de réseautage en cliquant ICI.

Cocktail à 19h15 | BBQ à 19h30 | Séance de réseautage à 20h00

Chèr.e.s participant.e.s à la réception du caucus des femmes de l'ACSP,

Au nom du bureau de direction du caucus, merci de votre participation.

Cette année, nous avons planifié un souper BBQ à St. John's College - 2111 Lower Mall, sur le campus de l'UBC, le mardi 4 juin.

Rejoignez-nous à 19h15 pour prendre un verre. Le BBQ commencera à 19h30. Le souper inclura limonade, thé glacé, hamburgers, hotdogs, et des salades (options végétaliens/végétariens disponibles). Un bar payant (bière et vin) sera ouvert; les boissons coûteront $5.

Quelques choses à souligner :

- Premièrement, la session de réseautage inclura des jeux de réseautage amusants, et aura lieu entre 20h et 21h. Les chercheur.e.s, enseignant.e.s, et étudiant.e.s de tout niveaux (établi.e.s, mi-carrière, et émergent.e.s) seront groupé.e.s par intérêt avec l'intention d'agrandir des réseaux et de rencontrer des collègues nouveaux/nouvelles. La séance de réseautage sera ouverte aux personnes de tous les genres. Même si vous avez déjà participé, inscrivez-vous ICI avant vendredi le 24 mai, SVP.

Deuxièmement, si vous avez des restrictions alimentaires ou des besoins en matière d'accessibilité, SVP écrivez-nous (Emily.Wills@uottawa.ca) aussitôt que possible.

Au plaisir de vous rencontrer à Vancouver!

Emily, Alana et Jessica

R10 - Should the CJPS/RCSP Become an Open Access Journal?

Date: Jun 5 | Time: 10:30am to 12:00pm | Location: SWING 121

Chair/Président/Présidente : Martin Papillon (Chair, Joint CPSA-SQSP Committee on the Impact of Open Access on the CJPS [OA-CJPS Committee] | Président du Comité mixte ACSP-SQSP sur l'impact du libre accès sur la RCSP [Comité LA-RCSP - Montréal])

Participants

Mélanie Bourque (CJPS French Language Co-editor - Member OA-CJPS Committee | Codirectrice francophone RCSP – membre Comité LA-RCSP – UQO Saint-Jérôme)
Alex Marland (Member OA-CJPS Committee | Membre Comité LA-RCSP - Memorial University)
Brenda O'Neill (CJPS English Language Co-editor - Member OA-CJPS Committee | Codirectrice anglophone RCSP – membre Comité LA-RCSP - University of Calgary)
Chris Robinson (Editor, Journals/Éditeur, Revues - Cambridge University Press)

Catered Event

Should the CJPS become an open access journal?

Open access (OA) is rapidly gaining support in the scientific community. As of 2021, the Canadian Journal of Political Science (CJPS) will no longer be eligible for SSHRC's Aid to Scholarly Journal grant unless its scholarly content is minimally accessible for free within 12 months of publication. The CJPS, the Canadian Political Science Association (CPSA) and the Société québécoise de science politique (SQSP) are vulnerable because transitioning to OA would reduce revenues from the journal's subscription fees and royalties, which represent a significant proportion of their income. A CPSA-SQSP committee has prepared a preliminary report making recommendations on the path ahead for the CJPS in this changing context.

The preliminary report is available HERE

The committee will present its report and receive feedback from the Association's members at this roundtable.

La RCSP devrait-elle adopter le libre-accès?

Le phénomène du libre accès (LA) gagne en importance dans le domaine des publications savantes. Pour être admissible au programme de soutien aux revues savantes du CRSH, la Revue canadienne de science politique devra à partir de 2021 rendre accessible gratuitement son contenu scientifique après un délai de 12 mois. L'impact du virage vers le LA sur la Revue reste incertain, mais son modèle d'affaires, qui repose sur les abonnements et les redevances est vulnérable. Un déclin des revenus en provenance de la Revue affectera également l'Association canadienne de science politique et la Société québécoise de science politique, qui financent une partie de leurs activités grâce à ceux-ci. Un comité mixte de l'ACSP et de la SQSP a préparé un rapport préliminaire afin de faire un état de la situation et proposer des pistes de réponses.

Le rapport est disponible ICI

Le comité présentera son rapport et sollicitera par la même occasion les commentaires des membres de l'ACSP lors de la table-ronde.

Professor Brown's fields of interest include the history of political theory, nineteenth and twentieth century Continental theory, critical theory and theories of contemporary capitalism. She is best known for intertwining the insights of Marx, Nietzsche, Weber, Freud, Frankfurt School theorists, Foucault, and contemporary Continental philosophers to critically interrogate formations of power, political identity, citizenship, and political subjectivity in contemporary liberal democracies. In recent years, her scholarship has focused on neoliberalism and the political formations to which it gives rise.

R14(b) - CPSA President's Dinner / Dîner du président de l'ACSP

Date: Jun 5 | Time: 06:00pm to 12:00am | Location: Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre (1088 Burrard Street, Vancouver)

Cocktails available at 6:00 pm; Dinner: 7 pm.

Menu

The Wall Centre kitchens are well known for the quality of their meals and for their creative use of local, seasonal products. The dinner will feature an appetizer, an entree with a vegetarian option and a dessert. Details to be provided in early Spring.

As CPSA President, I invite all conference delegates to join me for this year's President's Dinner, which will be held at the Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre on Wednesday, June 5th at 6 pm. For faculty supervisors in a position to do so, I encourage them to bring their students to the dinner as their guests. This is a great opportunity to meet other political scientists! Spouses, partners, friends and other guests of delegates are also invited.

The President's Dinner is also when we announce the winners of our prizes and honour their achievements. We hope all members of the prize juries and shortlisted colleagues will be present. The four new members of the CPSA Board of Directors –including the new Director-Student Representative!-, the new President and Vice-President will also be announced and introduced at the dinner. Join us in welcoming them to the Board!

Attendees can pay for their tickets on the Congress registration form until Friday, May 17, 2019. After this date, attendees are asked to contact the CPSA Secretariat. There will be no on-site ticket sales.

The tickets prices are:

2019 CPSA President's Dinner (Association no. 48)

Unique Rate: Students, Retired and Unwaged Attendees - $50

Unique Rate: All Other Attendees - $90

Electronic tickets will be e-mailed on Tuesday, May 21, 2019. If you have food preferences, please inform the CPSA secretariat.

I look forward to greeting you all at Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre, and to sharing an evening with you.

François Rocher, CPSA President

Menu

Les cuisines du Wall Centre sont reconnues pour la qualité de leurs repas et leur créativité dans l'utilisation de produits saisonniers locaux. Le souper comprendra une entrée, un plat principal avec une option végétarienne et un dessert. De plus amples détails seront fournis au début du printemps.

À titre de président, j'invite tous les congressistes à se joindre à moi pour le dîner du président de cette année au Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre, le mercredi 5 juin à 18 h.

J'incite les professeurs qui sont dans la mesure de le faire d'inviter à ce banquet les étudiants qu'ils supervisent. Ce sera pour eux une belle occasion de rencontrer d'autres politologues.

Conjoints et amis sont également les bienvenus.

C'est au cours du dîner du président que nous annoncerons les noms des lauréats de nos prix et les féliciterons pour leurs réalisations. Nous espérons que tous les membres des jurys et tous les candidats préselectionnés seront présents. Les noms des quatre nouveaux membres du conseil d'administration – incluant le nouveau directeur-représentant des étudiants! – ainsi que du nouveau président et du nouveau vice-président seront annoncés; ces personnes vous seront d'ailleurs présentées au cours du dîner. Joignez-vous à nous pour leur souhaiter la bienvenue au sein du conseil d'administration!

Les congressistes peuvent payer leur billet sur le formulaire d'inscription du Congrès des sciences humaines jusqu'au vendredi le 17 mai 2019. Après cette date, les congressistes sont priés de communiquer avec le secrétariat de l'Acsp. Aucun billet ne sera vendu sur place.

Les prix des billets sont :

R15(a) - Interdisciplinary Session - Decolonizing Canada: Critically Considering Settler Solidarity During Indigenous Led Efforts

Date: Jun 6 | Time: 08:30am to 10:00am | Location: ANGU 435

Joint Session / Séance conjointe : Canadian Sociology Association, Society for Socialist Studies

Organizer & Chair/Président/Présidente : Binish Ahmed (Ryerson University)

How have settlers practiced their relational responsibilities to decolonize Canada? What are the expressions of those practices? As Indigenous peoples determine their futures by leading the way to refuse as well as undo colonial systems and policies, expressions of settlers acting in solidarity have looked different across space and time in Canada. This session calls for papers which focus on moments of settlers organizing and acting in solidarity with Indigenous peoples, supporting efforts to build anti-colonial, anti-imperial movements and coalitions, and contributing to practices which center Indigenous pathways to self-government, self-determination and decolonization. This session is additionally seeking papers which explore the complexities that arise when settlers practice a politics of solidarity with Indigenous peoples and engage social movement work inspired by an anti-imperial and a decolonial praxis. Your paper may highlight what solidarity work has been done, who is doing the work, who is not, and why not. Additionally, you can address what the different ways of doing the former work have been, as well as what can be learned from it. Your paper may address one or more of the former questions. Please ensure that you have described your research methodology in the abstract. This is a jointly sponsored session between Canadian Sociology Association, Canadian Political Science Association, and Society for Socialist Studies.

Deepening the connections between academic researchers and practitioners can improve dialogue, debate, and outcomes. As shifting political dynamics impact elections around the world, what can the study of politics bring to the upcoming 2019 Canadian federal election? What issues will be at the centre of policy debates? Which issues should be there? How can political scientists and other social scientists meaningfully contribute to public dialogue and debate?

The CPSA is pleased to convene a panel discussion open to all Congress attendees on the critical issues and opportunities for intervention in the 2019 federal election with panelists covering three themes:

- 1) Disinformation/misinformation
- 2) Election studies
- 3) The role of the media/connecting with the public and decision-makers

Session Abstract: The purpose of this roundtable is to reflect on key aspects of recent provincial elections during a period in which there has been more change than continuity. The principal attention is devoted to the elections in Alberta, Ontario and the Atlantic Provinces. However, participants are encouraged to comment on other provincial elections too. The roundtable will focus on the following three key questions regarding various provincial elections.

- What accounts for the results of recent provincial elections?
- To what extent are the results of the recent provincial elections similar or dissimilar than previous elections, and what accounts for this?
- What have been and what are likely to be the major policy changes at the provincial level and possibly even the national level given the results of recent provincial elections?

R18 - Populism and Political Science: Implications for the Discipline

Date: Jun 6 | Time: 12:00pm to 01:30pm | Location: SWING 305

Chair/Président/Présidente : Steven Rathgeb Smith (American Political Science Association)

The rise of populist movements across the world, including Donald Trump's surprise victory in the U.S. presidential election, the unexpected approval of Brexit, the newly elected government of Quebec, the election of Jair Bolsonaro in Brazil, and resurgent far right movements in Europe, have brought to the fore pressing questions about the role of political science and how it relates to politics and policymaking. In many places, the future of academic freedom is unresolved, and uncertainty exists about the continued relationship between political scientists and government. Should, and how should, these developments affect political science research agendas and our teaching in the classroom? Political scientists must consider how best to address questions of democracy, populism, and economic distribution that have become a driving force in politics. How can the discipline engage policymakers and the public on these issues? This panel will address these questions, along with what these recent developments mean for political science, both in terms of the unique challenges that they introduce for political science research and their implications for future research agendas and pedagogy.
